

Human Readability

Machine Readability

Indigenous communities can apply Labels to replace Notices providing information regarding the provenance of genetic resources, and communicating protocols and permissions for future access and benefit sharing of the genetic resources and derived data.

Researchers/institutions can apply Notices to support the recognition of Indigenous interests in collections and data And invite Indigenous communities to provide their own perspectives.